Final Questionnaire

Q No.	ASD Indicator	Main Question	Follow-up Question
Q1	Response to Name	How often does your child respond when you call their name?	What usually happens when you call your child's name? Please describe how your child responds.
Q2	Eye Contact	How often does your child make eye contact when talking to or interacting with you?	What usually happens when your child makes eye contact with you while talking or interacting? Please describe.
Q3	Joint Attention	When you point to something or look at something, how often does your child also look at it?	What does your child usually do when you point to or look at something? Do they look at the same object?
Q4	Use of Gestures	How often does your child use gestures, such as pointing, waving, nodding, or shaking their head, to communicate?	What gestures does your child usually use to communicate? Please give an example.
Q5	Social Interaction	How often does your child interact with other children?	How does your child usually interact with other children? Do they play with them, talk to them, or prefer to stay alone? Please describe.
Q6	Sharing Interest	How often does your child show you something they are interested in or excited about?	What does your child usually show you when they are interested or excited? Does your child look at you or wait for your reaction?

Q7	Play Behavior	How often does your child engage in pretend play, such as pretending to feed a doll, cook, or drive a toy car?	What pretend activities does your child usually do? If your child does not usually engage in pretend play, what do they usually do when playing?
Q8	Language and Communication	Does your child usually express their needs, wants, or feelings using words, sounds, or gestures?	How does your child usually communicate what they want or need? Approximately how many words or phrases can your child currently use?
Q9	Understanding and Following Instructions	Does your child usually follow simple instructions, such as “Come here,” “Give me the toy,” or “Sit down”?	When you give your child a simple instruction, do you usually need to repeat it or use gestures before they follow it? Please give an example.
Q10	Repetitive Behaviors or Routines	Does your child show repetitive movements or behaviors, such as hand-flapping, spinning, rocking, or repeating the same action?	What repetitive movement or behavior does your child usually do? When does it usually happen, such as when your child is excited, upset, or stressed?
Q11	Sensory Responses	Does your child have a strong reaction to certain sounds, types of touch, or other sensations, such as covering their ears, crying, or avoiding them?	What usually causes the reaction, and what does your child usually do? Please give an example.
Q12	Emotional Response to Change	Does your child become upset when there is a change in their usual routine or when they are introduced to a new situation?	What type of change usually upsets your child? For example, a change in schedule, going to a new place, or meeting a new person. How does your child usually react?

Q13	Fixation/ Preoccupation	Is there an object or activity that your child really likes and wants to do or look at repeatedly?	What object or activity is your child especially interested in? What does your child usually do with it, and do they have difficulty stopping or moving to another activity?